Friday's Cash Sale

Corsets at 50c.

The word "bargain" is one hard word in advertisements, but it was made to fit exactly such a sale as this. Plenty of Corsets may be found for half a dollar, but look at fifty other sorts and then you'll be best know how unmatchable is the "Vigilant" for 50c.

A usual 50c corset isn't cheap as a rule, but these are not of the usual sort—they were made to sell for 75c. Well shaped, well braced, of strong grain, double silk steel, corset.

$1 "J. B." CORSET CO. Only one to a customer. We have many and we want the lucky chance widely scattered. There is no better corset made than the "J. B." and the factory has standing orders to keep ahead of other folks' perfection. Most corsets require tight lacing to give wearers the form they desire, but it is not so with this model. It is reduced the abdomen and lengthens the waist without any injurious lacing. Physicians commend it as one of the most healthful corsets. We have a competent saleswoman in charge of the stock, one who has given the subject wide and careful study. Her suggestions will be helpful to you and can be relied upon.

UNCLE SAM is a ware novice in the business of keeping his soldiers free from sickness while campaigning in tropical climates, but there are others. Of the 110,000 more or less acclimated Spanish troops in Cuba 50,000 are in the hospitals.

Some of the one horse Democratic papers are claiming that their party will control the next House of Representatives. When it is known that to do this there must be a clear gain of fifty-four members the outlook is about as promising as a snowstorm in July.

THE late GROVER CLEVELAND is opposed to Uncle Sam reaching out into the world. His Administration always was opposed to American enterprise, for he tried to curb it with Free-trade poison. He was also opposed to the spread of the American form of Government, for he ordered Mister Blount, "my Paramount Commissioner," to haul down the American Flag in Hawaii.

A MATVILLER Preacher announced that he would discuss a family scandal from his pulpit, and as a result every seat in the Church was filled long before the time for Church service, many standing in the aisles and a look of satisfaction was on the faces of all present. The shrewd manager of the flock then proceeded to discuss on Adam and Eve and the serpent—Exchange.

All of which is a bathed in lie.

WILL THE PEOPLE

SUBMIT?

Following are the results of the late August Election Commission: Democrats absolutely control the election system in every county in Kentucky. In 10 counties there are two Democratic and one Republican Election Commissioner; in 13 other counties there are two Democratic and one Populist Commissioner; and in the 11 remaining counties we have solidly Democratic Boards.

Republicans are in a helpless minority of one against two in 90 counties, and in 74 counties they are absolutely without representation on the Boards that are masters of the election machinery, pass upon all election contests and from whose most infamous decisions there is no appeal.

The Republican organizations were not permitted to select the few Republicans appointed, and it is a notorious fact that the so-called Populists are nearly all Democrats in disguise, having voted and acted with the Democratic party on every important occasion in recent years.

The cloak of hypocrisy that was put on when Judge PAVOR was elected a member of the State Election Commission has been thrown off, and the double conspiracy is revealed in all its hideousness.

Has the Republican party been such an enemy to the state and Nation as to justify these outrages against law and decency to drive or keep it from power?

Is the supremacy of WILLIAM GOODE, and his high-handed followers so important to the welfare of Kentucky as to condone this unseemly rape of the ballot?

Will the people submit?

WHAT "JOHNIES" ATE

Rations of a Confederate Soldier During the Civil War.

CONTRAST THE FOOD OF TODAY.

As nearly everything else has been written up fully in regard to supplies that occurred between the Spanish and American soldiers, says The Murfreesboro Banner, the ration question is now being brought forward, and general complaint seems to have prevailed everywhere, from Santiago to San Francisco, but so far we have never yet seen an itemized report of the kind of rations or the amount issued to each soldier, and every one is left to doubt about the matter.

It is well known that the soldiers in the Confederate Army seldom complained of their rations in public, even in print, as it was taken for granted that their government was doing the best it could. Occasionally it was a feast when a Federal supply train was captured, and there was a slight change made on a successful battlefront by taking beverages from dead Federal soldiers.

After the first year of the war the daily rations of a Confederate soldier, when fighting or marching, were one pint of corn meal, one fourth pound of bacon. If coming in, in addition to this he drew one-fourth pound sugar, one-half pint of molasses, three-fourths of a pound of black beans, one ounce of oatmeal, one-half of a pound of peas, and on Christmas Day a "jigger" of pistol whisky.

When General E. Kirby Smith invaded Kentucky in 1862, they had ten days rations issued to them and started off over the mountains to get in the region of Cumberland Gap, leaving their wagon and supplies at the Creek Gap. At the end of the sixth day there was not six pounds of rations in the whole division. General Smith, to supply the men with something to eat, bought whole felled corn, which were in the roasting ear stage, and the soldiers were told to help themselves. As the soldiers had no cooking vessels, they built fires and attempted to roast it, the result being that it was burned black on the outside and raw on the inside.

It was while this siege was going on Private Ben Jones, who was a member of the 1st Missouri General Cavalry that he had just had a splendid breakfast. Upon being asked by General Churchill where he got his breakfast and what it consisted of, he replied very promptly that it consisted of three cents of buckwheat and one cent of corn.

If the soldier at Santiago or any camp thinks he is living on short rations, let him compare his with the rations of the Confederate soldiers, and he will see that he is being treated, if not fed on the best of the land.

Great pains is taken with our Coke to make it retain its heat and give a hot, clean fire. It is not a residue. Get our price on application.

UNUSUAL CASE.

John Gray and Katie Larcum married on a License which Had Been Issued in These Eight Years Ago.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 7.—County Attorney Polakovic, of this county, was called on Thursday for an opinion in a rather unusual case involving the happiness of a couple from the country, who were anxious to get married quickly, the groom especially so, as he feared that the prospective bride might change her mind. The party to the wedding, which occurred shortly after the rendition of the opinion, were John Gray and Katie Larcum. They had been sweethearts since 1860, and the trouble arose over the attempt to get married on a license secured by Gray in that year, but never used. The minister would not perform the ceremony, and Gray appealed to the county attorney. He said that he had purchased the license in the spring of 1861, at the residence of Miss Larcum, to marry him, but that she changed her mind before the ceremony was performed. He returned the license to the county clerk, but did not give up hope of finally having an opportunity to use it. He continued to display his affection for the woman in question until she finally agreed to marry him. County Attorney Polakovic, in giving the opinion, was at first, and the couple were married immediately.
